My name is Mrs. Cropley, and I'm famous for my food

I love to make recipes that some may think are crude

I love to eat chicken thighs I love a honeyed cow

Eggshell soup, with herring feet must be eaten now

I recommend fried ponytail with a side of sardine jam

Haggis is pretty nasty, so add a slice of spam.

Eggs and bacon are pretty good, with liver it's very nice

I always like a tasty treat but I love kale by the slice.

A rack of lamb, is always good, and well worth the surprise.

When you baste the beast with Marmite it'll open up your eyes

Squirrel Enchiladas are delicate to eat

They have a taste that's crunchy, like smelly old feet

Camel humps with broccoli are very hard to find

And you cover them in stinky cheese, wrapped in lemon rind

Fish Oil Cookies, and cabbage you eat them by the ton

With pickle salad and anchovies it can be a lot of fun
