verse one:

Go ahead, walk under a ladder.
It won't make you sadder,
It won't mess you up at all.
Sidewalk crack— step on it proudly.
Land both feet loudly.
Smile and stand up tall.
Good time to feel no fear.
Lucky thing common sense is here.

chorus:

Thirteen--it's just a number.
No magic power, no secret clue.
Don't let your logic slumber.
Don't let thirteen do a number on you.

verse two:

Kitty cat black, black as a raven,
Won't cause misbehavin'.
Won't bring you any pain.
Mirror breaks—don't go to pieces.
Your worry ceases
When you use your brain.
I have a good idea:
Let's all tell superstition "See ya..."

(repeat chorus)

bridge:

When somethin' seems kinda nutty,
Scratch your head once or twice.
You might not have to knock on wood
To have things turn out the way they should.

(repeat chorus)
